The first section of 14 cars left shortly before 9 o'clock and another section of an equal number of cars departed later.

FOREIGN SERVICE
MEN MAY BE NEEDED TO TRAIN RECRUITS

Following the circulation of reports here that army service men of Camp Walter E. Brown, Spanish War, Philadelphia, and Foreign Service Veterans, had received orders to hold themselves in readiness for a call to the colors on or after April 2, it became known that many members of the post are preparing to turn out in case of necessity, though no orders to that effect have been sent here.

Members of the national guard of Pennsylvania, after their three years of actual service are over, remain reservists for three years. This period has passed, therefore, for the foreign service veterans, but there has been much talk among them of volunteering their services. More than 100 men are members of the local post, and two-thirds of them are under the army age limit, 45. Commander T. R. Cunningham said this morning:

"Not long ago, one service man says, the veterans were 'sounded out' as to whether they were willing to take officers' commissions in the event of war, even if only to drill and train recruits. Particular attention was paid to those who were not only under the age limit and physically fit, but were not bound by family ties.

The great weakness, should the United States army be called into action, this man insists, would be a lack of officers. 'Volunteers are easy to get,' he says, 'but volunteer officers are out of the question. The whole regular army can't be taken to command the recruits, either. The foreign service veterans are the men, and I believe they are being counted upon. Most any of them would be willing to go back into the army, if given an officer's commission.'

"There has been some talk among members of the post along these lines. Commander Cunningham, however, says the idea is to organize a regiment of service men, of which the local camp members will likely form one company. Plans for the organization of such a regiment were set on foot during the Mexican trouble, and were dropped for the time being when the border service came to an end.

It seems certain that Connellsville would do her part should war come. Prospects are that Company D will be called out to do duty of some kind; the Camp Walter Brown veterans seem enthusiastic about serving, should it become necessary for them to do so; and business men and fraternal organizations are said to be busy forming 'home guard' companies.

REASONS FOR REFUSAL TO REAFFIRM TREATY

WASHINGTON, March 26.—Germany's "clear violation of the treaties of 1795 and 1837" and her "disregard for the canons of international courtesy" were assigned by the United States as reasons for refusal to reaffirm these agreements. The note of refusal to Germany, transmitted through Dr. Paul Ritter, the Swiss minister, was made public today by the State Department and discloses that this government is "seriously considering" whether Germany's conduct has not in effect abrogated these treaties.

The note says: "In view of the clear violation by the German government of the plain terms of the treaties in question, solemnly concluded on the mutual understanding that the obligation thereunder would be faithfully kept; in view further of the disregard of the canons of international courtesy and the comity of nations in the treaties of American citizens in Germany; the government of the United States cannot perceive any advantage which would flow from further engagement, even though they were merely declaratory of international laws entered into with the Imperial German government in regard to the meaning of any of the articles of those treaties or as supplementary to them. In these circumstances, therefore, the government of the United States declines to enter into the special protocol proposed by the Imperial German government."

FIVE AMERICANS ON TWO SUNKEN STEAMERS

WASHINGTON, March 26.—Torpedoing of the Norwegian steamer Wilfred with two Americans on board and the British steamer Cloray with three Americans, was reported today to the State Department. The Wilfred was warned by the submarine which sank her but carried no contraband or armament.

Wilson Orders Navy Increased
To War Strength of 87,000

President Wilson last night signed an executive order directing that the authorized enlisted strength of the Navy be increased to 87,000. In a telegram to The Courier, Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels says the need is imperative for a larger enlistment to man new ships and ships in reserve. There has been a net increase of over 6,000 in enlistments since Congress recently authorized an increase, Secretary Daniels states, but many more are needed.

"The navy offers exceptional advantages to young men of stuff and ambitions to serve in the first line for national defense," the secretary states.

The President's order follows:

"By virtue of the authority vested in the President by the act of Congress approved August 26, 1916, entitled 'An act making appropriations for the naval service for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1917, and for other purposes' it is hereby directed that the authorized enlisted strength of the navy be increased to 87,000 men."

(Signed) WOODROW WILSON.

COUPLE THROWN FROM CARRIAGE

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reagon have narrowly escaped in Ruinaway near McCoy Springs.

While out for a drive yesterday afternoon, Charles Reagon, 59 years old, and his wife, Mrs. Ella Reagon, 61 years old, well known residents of Connellsville, had a narrow escape from death in a runaway which occurred near McCoy's Spring. They were driving very slowly when the harness broke, causing the horse to take fright. Mr. Reagon lost control of the frightened animal and after running for some distance it plunged into a stone pile, causing the buggy to upset and throwing the occupants out.

Mr. and Mrs. Reagon were carried to a house nearby and Dr. J. R. Korr was summoned, who after administering aid to the injured man and his wife, brought them to the Cottage State Hospital, where they received further treatment for their injuries. Mr. Reagon suffered a dislocation of the right shoulder, while Mrs. Reagon received a sprain of the left wrist, cuts of the nose and forehead and bruises of the body. Neither was injured internally. They expect to return to their home in York avenue today. Mr. Reagon conducts a grocery store.

Mr. Reagon is a lover of horses and the animal he was driving was a spirited one. The horse was also badly hurt.

AGED RECLUSE
BURNS TO DEATH

Basli Derry, 77 Years Old, Found Lying in Grave Near Glendale School House.

Basli Derry, 77 years old, a wealthy hermit of Smithfield, was found cremated yesterday morning in his home near Glendale school house. Derry's body was found by Charles Gates, who, while passing the house, smelled something like burning rags. Calling into the building, Gates saw the man's body lying on the floor in front of the grate. The clothing was still on fire, and had ignited the woodwork near the grate, causing the smoke.

Derry is thought to have been seized by an attack of heart trouble while seated in front of the fire, and to have fallen into the grate. He had left the county home only a few days before and was sick then. It is supposed that he left the county home because he desired to die at the place where he had been born and raised.

Derry died very near the place, where, not long ago, John Park, another recluse, succumbed and under almost similar circumstances.

Derry was a descendant of Balser Derry, a pioneer settler, and was the last of his family. Interment was held this afternoon in the Baptist cemetery. Funeral Director G. S. Vance being in charge of the funeral.

CONCERT TONIGHT

"Duty of All to Help Playgrounds by Turning Out," General Opinion.

The Royal Gwent Welsh Male Singers will appear at the Connellsville concert, under the auspices of the Connellsville Playgrounds Association. Proceeds will be devoted to the playground fund. The concert is to start promptly at 8:30.

"It is positively the duty of every one who believes in playgrounds, and all that they stand for to turn out for this concert," one man said this morning.

Prospects are that a crowded house will greet the famous Welsh choir. Not only will the music be a treat, but the playground cause is a worthy one, it is declared, which all should patronize. The program to be presented by the chorus is one of great variety. The singers have been proclaimed well worth hearing by all who know of their work, and the sacred concert given in a Uniontown church last night is said to have been really wonderful.

The sent sale at Hietzel's drug store has been good. It was stated this morning, however, that plenty of good seats were still available.

REFUSES ROYALTIES

Inventor of Lewis Gun Will Take No Premium From U. S. Government.

Reports from Washington say that Colonel L. N. Lewis, U. S. N., retired, former Fayette county man, and inventor of the Lewis machine gun, has refused to accept royalties on his weapons which are being sold to the United States government. Colonel Lewis recently received a check for $10,000 to the War Department, stating in the accompanying letter that he never intended to accept any premium from the government on the guns of his invention.

The Lewis gun was offered to the government some years ago and it was turned down. Later it was brought into use by the Allies and has proved to be the best machine gun in the world, according to European military experts.

DANCING BANNED FOR CATHOLICS

Order of Bishop Canavin Read in Churches at Masses Yesterday.

An order promulgated by Right Reverend Canavin, bishop of the Pittsburgh diocese of the Roman Catholic Church, putting the ban on dancing, was read by all Catholic priests of the region yesterday morning. Members of the churches were told that dancing at church entertainments or in church halls would not be permitted. Money collected from dances will not be accepted for church uses.

"The support of religion must not depend in any way on money gained by dances," the order reads, "and the church refuses to accept gain coming from a source that is often dangerous, harmful, and the occasion of sin to many souls. Priests and people must find more becoming methods than dances to aid in raising funds to maintain churches, schools, and institutions of charity."

"It is not the intention to prohibit such dances as are conducted in schools or parish halls for the amusement of the young," it continues, "as long as persons of both sexes do not mingle and take part in the dances."

Rev. Father J. T. Burns yesterday interpreted the law to the Immaculate Conception Church congregation. No more dancing will be permitted in the social hall of the parochial school. Should the church societies decide to have a dance they may do so, provided they use some other place; but none of the money gained can be used for church purposes. Girls may dance together if they wish and so may the men.

Incidentally, Father Burns remarked that there were several dancing halls in Connellsville which should be closed.

LABOR LEADERS TO OPPOSE INCREASE IN STATE POLICE

Hot Fight Expected On Bookman Bill in the Senate Tonight.

27 BILLS PASSED FINALLY

After Three Months in Session Legislature Has Only a Few Minor Bills Before Governor; Executive Has Vetoed His Axe on Three Measures

Special to The Courier.

HARRISBURG, March 26.—After several weeks of inaction the Legislature will convene tonight, sure of two lively contests. The Bookman bill increasing the state police force by 100 men was made a special order in the Senate for this evening, before that body adjourned last week. For a month the labor leaders have been devoting their energies toward creating sentiment against this measure. Senator William Burke of Allegheny county will lead the opposition on the floor of the Senate.

In the House a contest may come on Tuesday or may be delayed until Wednesday. Following the public hearing on the Vickerman local option bill held here Wednesday, the House law and order committee reported the measure favorably. Chairman Wagner in a statement issued before the hearing began had announced that irrespective of what happened at the hearings the bill would be favorably reported. The measure according to present plans will be given a first reading tonight and come up for second reading tomorrow. Local opinion advocates admit that they will not be able to muster more than 80 votes at the most in support of the Vickerman bill. It is that the case, and in this instance the wets and the drys agree, it will be up to the opponents of the bill to decide whether they will kill it on second reading Tuesday or delay action until the bill finds a place on the third reading calendar on Wednesday.

Up to the present time House and Senate have passed 27 bills. Of this number 11 have been approved and three vetoed. The first veto of the session was the Sprout probe resolution. The other two vetoes filed here

PLAN CHURCH CENSUS

Men's Christian Workers' League to Convene the City in Few Weeks.

At a meeting of the Men's Christian Workers' League held yesterday plans for taking a religious census of Connellsville were made. The object is to locate persons who belong to a church but are not connected with any in this city and also to induce those who do not belong to any Christian organization to join.

The census will probably not be started for two or three weeks yet, until more definite arrangements have been made. K. C. Davis was appointed general chairman and he will appoint chairmen for each ward. These chairmen in turn will appoint their assistants who will cover the district in which they live.

In the census the league expects to secure information that will be invaluable to the churches. People who have been identified with churches often move into this city and do not attend local churches of the same denomination. These will be located and urged to become active in religious work.

As the letter received from Bob Jones did not definitely state whether he would not come here for a day or night, a night letter was sent to him by the league urging him to come and members will write to the evangelist personally.

OUR QUIET PATRIOTISM.

While Connelville at no period in its history has ever failed to display its patriotism in an effective and practical way, at this time we seem to be a trifle behind some of our sister towns in our activities. This is less to our discredit than would at first appear for it has always been the habit of our people to be self-restrained under circumstances calling for public action upon important matters.

In Uniontown, Brownsville and Mount Pleasant auxiliaries of chapters of the Red Cross have been formed and great interest is being manifested in the preliminary preparations work. The ladies have been the most active in promoting these agencies although Brownsville has a full field Red Cross corps of 60 men who are drilling regularly and receiving instructions in the duties that would be required of them in actual service.

The exhibitions of patriotism among Connelvillians have been largely confined to individual action and expressions of sentiment. Efforts to effect organizations as branches of the many national defense and preparedness leagues does not seem to have been made. A number of individuals, among whom are some of our physicians, have identified themselves with some of these organizations, but no systematic movement has yet been made in the direction of taking concerted action by any considerable number of persons.

It is by no means follows that Connelvillians are indifferent or lukewarm in their patriotism. They have very prudently refrained from impetuous speech and conduct or outbreaks of merely vocal patriotism. There has not yet been, and there is not now, occasion or reason for other than a continued calm and composed course of conduct. We may be a little slow in recognizing the present as a time for manifestations of patriotism, but when it comes to providing help for the government in any practical way Connelville will not be found wanting, but it will go about it in the same quiet, determined way it has answered every call of our country in time of need or danger.

WHERE REPUBLICANS STAND.

There has been a disposition in intensely partisan Democratic quarters to charge Republican leaders with a lack of patriotism because some of them have been frank and candid enough to question the wisdom of some of the administration's acts and policies.

Some Democrats have been so blind in their admiration of President Wilson and all that he has said or done, that they are inclined to ascribe to him all the attributes of Lincoln, and expect no less fervent hero-worship from the Republicans. The Democrats disregard the fact that the vaccination, hesitation and inefficiency of the administration during the past three years, is so unlike the course Lincoln would have pursued that to liken Wilson to Lincoln is about as sensible as to contend that Wilson possesses the genius of Lincoln because Wilson was also elected to a second term.

There has never been a time in the history of our country when the Republican party has failed in its duty to uphold the honor of the nation, and the needs of the present or of the future will be as patriotically met. In crises similar to the present there have been Republican presidents in the White House and they led the nation unflinchingly. The Republicans are now no less ready than formerly to support the chief executive if the present incumbent, like those who have preceded him, upholds the nation's honor and its best traditions. Of this attitude of Republicans the administration has been assured by Senator Lodge, than whom there is no more truly representative member of his party.

In conference with Secretary Lansing a few days ago, relative to a plan for the complete elimination of party politics from the consideration of the foreign situation in Congress, Senator Lodge explained that the President will have the united and whole-hearted support of the Republicans, "provided he takes the lead in steering the nation's war policy as Lincoln would now steer it, were he at the helm. The United States must play the role it has chosen, in accordance with the best traditions of American history and must not shrink any of its responsibilities and conduct a war in name only."

"All the Republicans want," said Senator Lodge, "is assurance that these fundamental principles will be followed by President Wilson. If they are to be, there will be no party opposition whatever. Whatever the President wants Congress to do will be done. Whatever appropriations he desires will be forthcoming. Party lines will be as completely rent asunder as if a solemn compact had been entered into to form Democrats and Republicans into a so-called coalition government with the national welfare as the only goal."

"But," Senator Lodge warned Secretary Lansing, "if the President contemplates abortive, restrictive or purely academic measures, or if the country's war policy is to be guided along limited liability lines, the Republican leaders will do everything in their power to alter the plan. There will be no united party support and no enthusiasm on patriotic or other grounds, because the Republican leaders do not feel that they can support a course of procedure which will belittle the nation in the eyes of the world."

That is to say, the Republicans will stand, as they have always stood, for that virile, undiluted Americanism which in all previous history of our country has inspired the wholesome respect of all other nations of the earth.

BETTER THIRD-CLASS CITY CODE

There are indications that the Beideman bill, providing for the abolition of the commission form of government for cities of the third-class, will not be enacted in the form introduced. As a result of the efforts made by those favoring amendment of the Clark act it seems probable that the Beideman bill will be changed so as to retain the fundamental ideas of the commission form of government, and through incorporation in it of the Clark act amendments, and the retention of some provisions of the original Beideman bill, will be reported as a compromise measure.

The best feature of the Beideman bill is the elimination of the non-partisan election of city officers, and this, it is understood, will be retained. Among other of the third-class there is some difference of opinion as to the merits of the non-partisan election feature, but on the whole the judgment of voters is that it has failed of its purpose. In its practical application it has been found that the facility with which designing politicians of one or more parties can combine in defeat the object of the non-partisan plan, makes it a more convenient means of preventing than it does of promoting the selection of the most desirable candidates. Through the simple expedient of inducing a large number of candidates to enter the field, in order to divide the vote into as many parts, the centering of support upon one or more candidates, as may be the need of the politicians, assures their choice; whereupon the voters who have loudly proclaimed the virtues of the non-partisan ballot marvel at the results.

If revised along the lines indicated, which include the preservation of the essential features of the commission form of government, the clearing up of the doubtful provisions of the Clark act, and the elimination of the non-partisan ballot, the Beideman bill, or such measure as may take its place, ought to constitute a very much better third-class city code than the present Clark act and also better than the Beideman bill in the form in which it was introduced.

The Berlin press agents certainly know their business. By their glowing accounts of how the retreat of the army on the western front is arousing admiration; how the people are displaying no signs of unrest but are entirely pleased and satisfied with the conduct and results of the war, these skilled purveyors of news would have the world believe that the Germans were making a sort of holiday frolic out of the war.

The members of the German Reichstag are learning to speak right out in school.

The city may yet have to use illegal machinery to separate the license tax for 1917 from the dayroom. In that case the city ought to get the cream, not the skimmed milk.

Uniontown made a real speedway start on its Y. M. C. A. fund raising race.

With a record of 251 births to 96 deaths there was not much sign of recession in Evergreen last year.

After all, it is more convenient to have the police go up than for the supply to give out.

Connelville cannot boast of quite as many miles of paved streets as other cities of the third-class, neither does it boast of having as many outstanding bonds.

If the backyard gardeners don't go into the business too extensively there will be weeds enough for all.

Now it is the Kaiser who is reported to be "on the verge" - not of ending the war, but on the verge of nervous collapse.

His William Jannine Bryan and the London adjusted properly on that spring by which his army of 1,000,000 men will rise in a blink!

The Kansasian tea debate will soon begin.

Party Government Offers Most.

After all regular party government offers more to the people than ever comes from the pretending reformers.

LITTLE TALKS ON THRIFT

By S. W. STRAUS
President American Society for Thrift

There never was in the history of this country when thrift was as much needed as now. The poorer classes of people are, in the high cost of food products, paying more than their share of the obligations imposed upon us by the war abroad and thriftlessness at home. The saddest aspect of the situation lies in the fact that those who are least responsible suffer most. Today the admission is generally made that extravagant living is one of the besetting sins of American life. The average American home wastes excessively. Statisticians tell us that we waste eight billion dollars yearly in this country. Experts in such matters have figured out that 10 per cent of our food stuffs is wasted by the housekeepers in this country.

Thrift consists, to a great extent, in the saving of little things. Benjamin Franklin said, "The art of getting rich consists very much in thrift. All men are not equally qualified for getting money, but it is in the power of every one to practice thrift." Superintendent Claxton, of the National Bureau of Education, estimates that the labor of the children of this country, which could be directed to the cultivation of plants and growing of back yards and vacant lots this spring and summer, might add two hundred million dollars to the national wealth each year. In little things is furnished by the Interborough Rapid Transit Company, of New York, which secures an income of more than $8000 a year from the sale of old newspapers left on the seats by subway passengers. One of our great railroad corporations requires that every nut and bolt be repaired and used again, the cotton waste used in wiping engines is cleaned and used again for packing journals.

Thrift of time is just as essential as thrift in money, and saving the second is just as valuable as saving pennies. It would be a good idea if people would form the habit of keeping a strict account of what they do every minute of every day. They would soon be amazed at the amount of time they waste. It would be a good idea, merely as an enlightening experiment, if for no other reason, if every minute would provide himself with a time account book and keep a record of every minute with the same accuracy that many persons keep a record of each cent spent.

Many years ago some very excellent advice on the subject of thrift was given by Sir Walter Raleigh, which we can well take to heart at this time. He said, "Use thy wealth that thou mayest have comfort to remember when it hath forsaken thee, and not sigh and grieve at the account thereof; use it as the spring time that soon deseth and wherein thou oughtest to plant and sow all provision for a long and happy life."

For Spring and Summer Let Us Show You

what we have in shoe stocks. Let us show you what we have for women, for men; let us show you what we have for misses and boys. Hear our prices, see the styles and workmanship of the shoes, remember the great wearing qualities of the shoes you have been buying from us for years, and be assured that what we are selling now will give you equally as good satisfaction. Shoes are higher—that we admit, and the price may still advance to a higher point. Yet, notwithstanding all these facts we are today selling our better grades of footwear for men and women, for misses and boys, at more reasonable prices than any opposition in the section in which we operate. The proof of the pudding is eating it, and so to prove this statement we recommend that you buy your shoes here and try it. There are thousands of men and women who have been supplying themselves and their families from our shoe departments for years. They continue season after season, year after year, to come direct to our stores for their supplies, never giving any place else a thought, and it is because they are getting good values, they are getting good results, they are getting goods of the styles that they want, and they get all the accommodations they want. Just now our shoe departments are stocked fully. We cannot describe or give the specifications on every pair, or every different line, but enough to say we have a very good, strong line of women's shoes, running as high as $7.00 per pair, and that's about high enough. Men's line likewise—dress shoes up to $7.00, and down to $2.00. The misses' and boys' lines are complete and extensive, prices reasonable. We have a very strong line of working shoes for men; also carry in each of our different shoe departments a full line of the celebrated Kil-press rubber working shoes for men. There seems to be a continuation of the shortage of leather; many manufacturers predict that shoe prices are going much higher. It is all a lottery; hard to tell, hard even to guess, but for the present time we have abundant stock to supply your needs at slight advances in price over last season. Therefore for your spring and summer supplies, let us show you our lines.

"A party of folks, mostly from the Connelleville coke region, held a picnic at Pass-a-Grille, the famous little resort on the Bay of Tampa, where attractions are sufficient to hold for several weeks Mr. John Wannamaker, whose private yacht was being anchored at the pier. All who came to this part of Florida visit Pass-a-Grille, notable for its flowers, its trees, its shells and its bathing beach; and these people from Western Pennsylvania thought to make their visit more pleasurable by going there in a body. The day was spent bathing in the surf, gathering shells, examining the curio in the shops and sitting on the beach looking out over the beautiful Gulf of Mexico. Dinner was served in the porch of one of the bathing houses and was greatly enjoyed by all present. The party was composed of the following: Mr. and Mrs. Kelt Long, Mrs. Martha Kutz, Mr. and Mrs. George Munson, Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Goodwin, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Kutz and children, Dorothy and Joe, E. N. ## SEEMS EVERYONE HEARD ABOUT IT

All Want to Try New Drug That Dries Up Corns So They Lift Out.

Good news spreads rapidly and druggists here are kept busy dispensing freezone, the recent discovery of a Cincinnati man, which is said to loosen any corn so it lifts out with the fingers.

A quarter of an ounce costs very little at any pharmacy, but is said to be sufficient to rid one's foot of every hard or soft corn or callus.

You apply just a few drops on the tender, aching corn and instantly the soreness is relieved, and soon the corn is so shriveled that it lifts out without pain. It is a sticky substance which dries when applied and never inflames or even irritates the adjoining tissue.

This discovery will prevent thousands of deaths annually from lockjaw and infection heretofore resulting from the suicidal habit of cutting corns.—Adv.

York Mother Finds Ideal Cold Treatment For Her Little Boy

Nothing to Swallow—You Just Rub It On.

"Our little four year old boy had a cough for about a week. We gave him everything we knew, and nothing seemed to do any good. So when we got Vick's VapoRub I rubbed it on his chest well for two nights and I have not heard him cough since. I think it is the best medicine I have ever had in the house."

ROISSON THEATRE.

"HER GOOD NAME."—Throughout the five reels of this photoplay story of sunshine and heart-throbs, Jean Sothern, who plays the leading part in it, gives one of the most delightful and impressive characterizations ever seen on the screen. As the innocent little country girl in the early part of the picture she has all the charm and freshness of an early spring morning. Later in the story she is required to portray the part of a girl whose father has committed murder to avenge the wrong he thinks a man has done her. Ben Wilson and Neva Gerber are featured in the two reel serial, "The Voice on the Wire" No. 2. "Some Specimens," a Nestor comedy, will also be shown. Tomorrow, Henry B. Walthall, America's greatest actor, plays the melody of child love on the heart-strings in "Little Shoes." A tense drama, clean, sweet, and beautiful, "Modern Hucanera," the 13th episode of "Pearl of the Army," featuring Pearl White. Wednesday Violet Mercereau appears in the Bluebird drama, "The Boy-Girl." Miss Mercereau gives a capricious performance in the title part. She plays the boy-girl with a sufficient show of boyishness and an adequate touch of femininity.

This is Templeton's opportunity and he asks her to make a bargain with him. He will give her all the money she needs and in turn she is to live with him in an apartment which he will establish for her. Shirley refuses but when her mother grows worse she yields and leads her mother to the apartment.

Years of experience in treating thousands of men for the drink habit, varying each treatment according to the needs of the patient, have reduced the problem of dealing with alcoholism at the Neal Institute almost to the level of dealing with a bad cold. The skill of the medical specialist and the care of the trained attendants make it possible to clear the poison of alcohol from the system of the drinker, and so change "craving" for

THE ARCADE.

"THE LIFE OF OUR SAVIOR."—At the Arcade today in the Radio master piece in natural colors, "The Life of Our Savior." The proceeds of the entire day will be donated to the Clatskanie school for boys. This is the most expensive film ever made, every inch of it being colored by hand by a secret process. Color photography is the new step in motion pictures, but up to the present time no process has been discovered that will enable their manufacture at a cost that will make them a commercial possibility. Tomorrow will be Maria Sals in "The Fate of Juan Galin," an adventure of the American Girl. Wednesday Helen Holmes and Hugh Mack. Thursday Lillian Walker in "Hesper of the Mountains." Friday Kathryn Williams in "The Rosary." Saturday, Helen Gibson in "The Path of Peril," and Hans and Bud in "The Bogus Bride."

CHAPTER XX.

The Call of Sun Rock.

In the golden glow of the autumn sun there came up the stream over-looked by the Sun Rock one day a man, a woman and a child in a canoe. Civilization had done for lovely Joan what it had done for many another. It'd never transplanted from the depths of the wilderness. Her cheeks were thin. Her blue eyes had lost their luster. She coughed, and when she coughed the man looked at her with love and fear in his eyes. But now, slowly, the man had begun to see the transformation, and on the day these came rolling up the stream and into the wonderful valley that had been their home before the call of the distant city came to them, he noted the flush gathering over more in her cheeks, the fuller redness of her lips, and the ethereal glow of happiness and content in her eyes. He laughed softly as he saw these things, and he blessed the forests, in the canoe who had leaped back, with her head almost against his shoulder, and he stopped paddling to draw her to him, not run his fingers through the soft golden masses of her hair.

"You are happy again, Joan," he laughed joyously. "The doctors were right. You are a part of the forest." "Yes, I am happy," she whispered, and suddenly there came a little thrill into her voice, and she pointed to a white finger of sand rising out into the stream. "Do you remember—your and years ago, it seems—that Kazan left us here? She was on the sand over there calling to him. Do you remember?" "There was a little tremble about her mouth, and she smiled. 'Wonder—where they—have gone.' The cabin was there, but left it. Only the crimson hickories had grown up about it, and shrubs and tall grass had sprung up near its walls. Once more it took on life, and day by day the color came deeper into Joan's cheeks, and her color was filled with its old wild sweetness of song. Joan's husband cleared the trails over his old translines, and Joan and the little Joan followed the cabin into home. One night the man returned to the cabin late, and when he came in there was a glow of excitement in Joan's blue eyes, and a tremble in her voice when she greeted him.

"Did you hear it?" she asked. "Did you hear—the call?" "He nodded, stroking her soft hair. "I was a mile back in the creek swamp," he said. "I heard it!" Joan's hands clutched his arms. "It wasn't Kazan," she said. "It would recognize his voice. But it seemed to me it was like the other—the call that came that morning from the sandbar, his mate?" "The man was thinking. Joan's fingers tightened. She was breathing a little quickly.

"Will you promise me this?" she asked. "Will you promise me that you will never hunt or trap for wolves?" "I had thought of that," he replied. "I thought of it—after I heard the call. Yes, I will promise."

Joan's arms stole up about his neck. "We loved Kazan," she whispered. "And you might kill him—or her." Suddenly she stopped. Both listened. The door was a little ajar, and to them there came again the walling wailing of the wolf. Joan ran to the door. Her husband followed. Together they stood silent, and with tones beneath Joan pointed over the stony plain.

"Listen! Listen!" she commanded. "It's her cry, and it came from the Sun Rock!" She ran out into the night, forgetting that the man was close behind her now, forgetting that little Joan was alone in her bed. And to them, from miles and miles across the plain, there came a wailing cry in answer—a cry that seemed a part of the wild, and that thrilled Joan until her breath broke in a strange sob.

Farther out on the plain she went and then stopped, with the golden glow of the autumn moon and the stars shimmering in her hair and eyes. It was many minutes before the cry came again, and then it was so near that Joan put her hands to her mouth, and her cry rang out over the plain as in the days of old.

"Kazan! Kazan! Kazan!" At the top of the Sun Rock, Gray Wolf—gaunt and thinned by starvation—heard the woman's cry, and the call that was in her throat died away.

A Strange Fire Leaped Through His Body.

In a white. And to the north a swiftly moving shadow swooped for a moment and stood like a thing of rock under the starlight. It was Kazan. A strange fire leaped through his body. Every fiber of his brute understanding was afire with the knowledge that here was home. It was here, long ago, that he had loved, and fought—and all at once the dreams that had grown faded and indistinct in his memory came back to him as real living things. For, coming to him faintly over the plain, he heard Joan's voice!

In the starlight Joan stood, tense and white, when from out of the pale mists of the moon-glow he came to her, clinging on his belly, panting and wild-eyed, and with a strange whining note in his throat. And as Joan went to him, her arms reaching out, her lips sobbing his name over and over again, the man stood and looked down upon them with the wonder of a new and greater understanding in his face. He had no fear of the wolf-dog now. And as Joan's arms hugged Kazan's great shaggy head up to her he heard the whining gasping joy of the beast and the sobbing whelping voice of the girl, and with tensely gripped hands he faced the Sun Rock.

"Good heavens!" he breathed. "I believe—it's true!" As if in response to the thought in his mind, there came once more across the plain Gray Wolf's rattle-seeking cry of grief and of loneliness. Swiftly as though struck by a lash Kazan was on his feet—oblivious of Joan's touch, of her voice, of the presence of the man. In another instant he was gone, and Joan flung herself against her husband's breast, and almost fiercely took his face between her two hands.

"Now do you believe?" she cried pathetically. "Now do you believe in the God of my world—the God I have lived with, the God that gives souls to the wild things, the God that—that has brought us all—together—once more—home!"

His arms closed gently about her. "I believe, my Joan," he whispered. "And you understand—now—what it means. 'Thou shalt not kill!'"

"Except that it brings us life—yes, I understand," he replied. Her warm, soft hands stroked his face. Her blue eyes, filled with the glory of the stars, looked up into his.

"Kazan and she—you and I—and the baby! Are you sorry—that we came back?" she asked. So close he drew her against his breast that she did not hear the words he whispered in the soft warmth of her hair. And after that, for many hours, they sat in the starlight in front of the cabin door. But they did not hear again that lonely cry from the Sun Rock. Joan and her husband understood.

"I'll visit us again tomorrow," the man said at last. "Come, Joan, let us go to bed."

Together they entered the cabin. And that night, side by side, Kazan and Gray Wolf hunted again in the moonlit plain.

LABOR LEADERS TO OPPOSE INCREASE IN STATE POLICE

Saturday saw the ax on the bill by Senator Kline that amends the Allegheny county pension fund statute now in force. In vetoing the measure the governor says that it is faultily drawn from an insurance point of view and does not give any evidence of any study of its fiscal plans.

"No pension fund," says the governor, "should hold any promise that it cannot be sure it will keep."

The other bill vetoed likewise a Senate measure, was introduced by Senator Lyle of Chester county and made it lawful for county commissioners to enter into contracts for the repairing or rebuilding of bridges without advertising for bids.

The sum involved was less than $500. The legislature has been in session since January 2. The following are the bills that have passed both houses up to the present time, together with the action if any taken by the governor:

Sproul resolution providing for an investigation of the various departments, vetoed.

Deficiency appropriation bill, appropriating funds to run the various departments until May 21, vetoed.

Bill appropriating $100,000 to pay the salaries of the judges of the courts, vetoed.

Bill appropriating $35,000 to send a brigade of National Guardsmen to attend Wilson's inaugural, approved.

Bill transferring part of fund appropriated to quarantine physicians at Philadelphia to the fund for the salary of other employees, approved.

Permitting York county poor district to erect a new county home, approved.

Senate bill amending the Allegheny county pension fund act, vetoed.

Authorizing county controllers in counties of 800,000 to 1,400,000 population to appoint a solicitor, approved.

Permitting counties to appropriate money for the improvement of state and highways, approved.

Permitting commissioners of counties to expend less than $500 for rebuilding bridges, without advertising for bids, vetoed.

Making an appropriation to a commission to investigate and report on the best manner of recording deeds and mortgages, approved. (This commission was first appointed in 1911 and has been continued ever since.)

Permitting the State Highway Department to use funds appropriated for state highways on state aid highways, approved.

Zemo is a wonderful, penetrating, disappearing liquid and is soothing to the most delicate skin. It is not greasy, is easily applied and costs little. Get it today and save all further distress. The E. W. Rose Co., Cleveland, O.

Appropriating $15,000 for a road from Kittanning to Ford City in Armstrong county; row in hands of the governor.

Appropriating $32,000 to meet a deficiency at the State hospital, now in hands of the governor.

Permitting a burgess to succeed himself in the governor's hands.

Appropriating $100 in Comptroller Indian reservation, Warren county; in hands of governor.

Appropriating $400 for schools in that reservation; also in hands of governor.

Two measures amending the practice regarding the matter of keeping dockets by justices of the peace; in hands of governor.

Optometry bill, providing for an examination of all those who would practice optometry; in governor's hands.

Providing that the salary of probation officers in Allegheny county shall be fixed by salary boards, instead of quarterly sessions courts; in hands of governor.

Permitting county commissioners to construct highway tunnels after construction has been recommended by grand jury and approved by the court; in hands of governor.

Permitting tobacco manufacturers and manufacturers of agricultural silk to hold real estate in Pennsylvania; in hands of governor.

This constitutes the work of the Legislature up to the present time. Almost three months have passed since the first sessions began and only 27 bills have come through the mill.

Fayette County Gas Company

Connellsville, Pa., March 24, 1917.

TO OUR CONSUMERS:

The shortage of gas which practically every gas company experienced during the last three months has demonstrated the necessity of securing an additional supply of gas in order that our consumers may not suffer, and it is our desire that the public should be acquainted with the situation.

When the present management assumed control of the local plant in 1900, it had 745 consumers in Uniontown, 342 in Connellsville and New Haven; 35 in Dunbar; 8 in Dawson, and 222 in Scottsdale,—a total of 1352.

The gas service at Mt. Pleasant had been suspended for about eight (8) years previous to the time the present management laid in new lines and furnished a sufficient supply.

The gas supply was very short, and generally considered about exhausted. The new owners inaugurated a vigorous campaign of development work, and succeeded in greatly increasing the supply.

A few years later, the supply from the Masontown field, which had been augmented by the purchase of the Menallen Gas Company, the Hildred Gas Company, and the Marietta-Stillwagon Gas Wells, commenced to show unmistakable evidence of exhaustion, and it became necessary to go further afield for new supply, with the result that a line was laid to Marion and Monongalia counties, West Virginia.

In 1910 the depletion of the latter field was so marked that a contract was made with the Hope Natural Gas Company, which had a large amount of gas territory in Doddridge, Harrison, Lewis and Ritchie counties, West Virginia, and which has been our main source of supply since that time.

The latter fields are also playing out, and last fall the main trunk lines were extended further south to connect with Gilmer, Calhoun, Roane and Kanawha counties, but even with this connection and the further fact that we purchased the gas from nine wells in Fayette and Westmoreland counties, Pennsylvania, owned by other companies, the supply was inadequate for our requirements.

Our consumers have increased from 1352 to 11,345, an increase of 742 per cent., and it naturally requires much more gas to supply our demands than it did 16 years ago, and of course the transportation facilities must also be much greater.

In 1910 the price of gas advanced to 27½ cents per thousand, SINCE WHICH TIME THERE HAS BEEN NO INCREASE IN THE DOMESTIC RATE.

It is well known that the price of gas must necessarily be advanced, because the available supply is rapidly being exhausted, and THERE IS NO MORE BEING MADE.

Each year sees the gas companies extending their lines further, and going greater distances to obtain a supply.

They cannot be expected to continue doing so without adequate compensation for the money expended and risk involved.

Compared with its usefulness and convenience Natural Gas is by far the cheapest commodity the housekeeper buys, and some day we will realize that it is better to pay a fair price for it than to go without.

The price of tubing, casing, line pipe, and in fact all material used in the drilling of wells and construction of gas lines, has advanced to prohibitive prices.

Two years ago our pipe cost us from $30 to $35 per ton. Today it is selling at from $90 to $100 per ton, and it is impossible to get large quantities or prompt deliveries at any price.

In the meantime the price of coal has also greatly advanced, and in some instances it has more than doubled, causing an unusual demand for gas because it is cheaper and more convenient.

Fuel oil, which also competes with gas, has advanced over 200 per cent. In fact, NATURAL GAS is the only commodity which has NOT BEEN ADVANCED.

This Company is going to make an effort to secure an adequate supply of gas. It has secured a number of leases in prospective territory, some distance from our present system, and which will require considerable pipe to reach. In order to assist in the extraordinary expenditure, the Company finds it necessary to increase the price of gas, as we believe that our patrons would rather pay a trifle more than suffer the inconvenience of a possible shortage next winter. Therefore we are posting notices, and are filing with the Public Service Commission of Pennsylvania, a supplement to our rate and traffic schedule, effective April 26, 1917, when the domestic rate will be 35c subject to the usual discount of 2½c per thousand for prompt payment, making the net rate 32½c per thousand cubic feet, which is an increase of five cents, or a fraction over 18 per cent., and which will be recognized as a very moderate and reasonable advance, as compared with the price of other fuel and materials.

We have in course of preparation a booklet of "General Instructions and Information upon the Use of Gas in the Home," and which will be mailed to each consumer as soon as received from the printers. This is gotten up by our experts, telling the consumer of the most modern and most economical methods of using natural gas. This, we believe, if practised, will enable the greater number of consumers to reduce their consumption enough to save at least this increase in price.

METHODISTS HAVE BIG ORCHESTRA

Finest Sunday School Music Makers in the County, Is Their Claim.

The "best Sunday school orchestra in Fayette county" is to be found here in Connelville, according to members of the Methodist Episcopal Church, who are making that claim for the organization which plays for their services every Sunday morning. It is not the best, it is certainly one of the largest in this section. From 12 to 15 musicians turn out regularly once a week for Sunday school. Some never miss a Sunday; others are irregular in attendance; a few play only on special occasions, but there are rarely less than eight present.

The orchestra was organized several years ago with two or three members, and has grown in numbers and in proficiency. Several concerts have been played, and ambitious programs presented. In addition to the regular Sunday services, the orchestra is often called upon to play at church socials and similar affairs.

Church members support the orchestra and are enthusiastic about it. Rev. G. L. C. Richardson recently announced that when the new addition to the church was built, there would be a special gallery for the orchestra. The platform in the present Sunday school room is almost too small for those that assemble there to play.

The complete roster, including the "regulars" and those who play only on special occasions, and embracing some of the leading musicians of the section, is as follows:

Piano, Miss Sara Maestri; violin, Mrs. W. P. Alguire, John Passanella, Frank Satterfield, Gerald Trevitt, Mr. MacKinnon, Byron Porter, and Paul Behrmann; cello, Howard Taylor; horn, J. E. "Chick" Street; cornets, Edzie Houn and W. G. Osborn; drums, V. Hugh Mueke and William Cable; trombone, Robert Corbell; baritone, Vincent Donato; clarinet, Charles L. Thomas and W. P. Alguire; flute, Percy C. Sigler; trumpet, E. D. McVilliams, J. Frank Hardy of Scotland will direct the orchestra at a concert to be given Friday night.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

Finally Reformed Sunday School (Church) leaders for coming year.

Officers were elected yesterday morning at the Trinity Reformed Sunday school. Those chosen will serve for a year, beginning with next Sunday. The new officers follow:

C. A. Farbaugh, Superintendent; Sol Leoley, assistant superintendent; Thomas Menefee, secretary; Edwin Hayes, assistant secretary; Eugene Wagner, treasurer; Ralph Lepley, assistant treasurer; Charles Henderson, librarian; Lloyd Menefee and Edna Wagner, assistant librarians; Miss Frances Rhones, pianist; George Rudolph, assistant pianist.

Fines Total $150.

Valentine Young, also known as Tony Brown, proprietor of a French street restaurant, was fined $20 in police court on the charge of keeping a disorderly house. Charles Jacobs of Meadow lane received the same fine on a similar charge. Two girls appeared against them as witnesses. Other heavy fines were levied by Mayor R. Marletta and police receipts over Sunday reached $150.

Leaves Hospital.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel. Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No gripping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action. If you have a "dark brown mouth" now and then—a bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver and are constipated, you'll find quick, sure and only pleasant results from one or two little Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

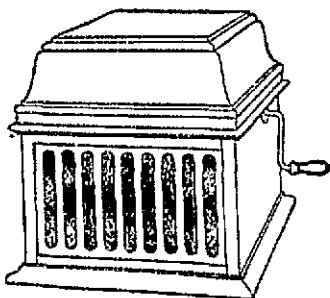

Thousands take one or two every night just to keep right. Try them, 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

NEW EDISON DIAMOND AMBEROLA

Thomas A. Edison is the inventor of the phonograph. Music critics say that the Amberola is not a "talking machine" but a real musical instrument.

Model 30
Price $30

The machine above is essentially the same from a mechanical standpoint, as the higher priced models, and is equally efficient in true tone reproduction.

May be had in one finish only—Golden Oak.

Owners of Old-Fashioned Edison Phonographs

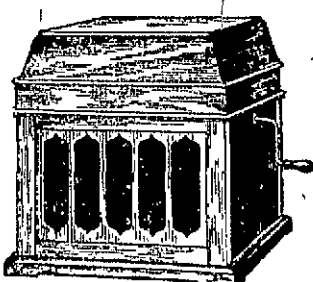

Will be pleased to learn that we can furnish special new attachments permitting the new Blue Amberol Records to be played on the old style machines.

The Blue Amberol Records are practically unbreakable and have been played 3000 times in Laboratory tests without showing the slightest sign of wear. Think of it! And they only cost 50c each.

Much longer selections can be put on these records than on ordinary "talking machine" records, which means more and better music for less money. You must hear these wonderful records to realize what magnificent music they make.

No Needles to Change

With his diamond stylus, Mr. Edison has done away with the bother of changing needles. The library of Amberola records embraces the very best in the world of music. The great artists, the latest popular melodies and dance music.

Identical with Model 75, save that it does not come in cabinet form, and may be had in the same popular finishes—Mahogany, Golden Oak, Weathered Oak and Fumed Oak.

This, as well as the other two models, has a genuine stylus reproducer, which means real music through a real diamond and no needles ever to change.

Model 75
Price $75

Model 75, above, comes in full-length cabinet form and in your choice of the following finishes: Mahogany, golden oak, weathered oak, fumed oak.

It is the latest evidence of Mr. Edison's supremacy in the field of musical reproduction, and is, without doubt, the greatest medium priced instrument ever offered to the public.
